Sisters of Mercy

Hermanas de la Misericordia

Elevator Pitch

"The Sisters of Mercy have been helping those in need around the world for 200 years. However with technology growing they have struggled to keep up with younger audiences. I believe by updating their website, creating more engaging social media content, and researching younger audiences they can grow their volunteer base. Consider looking into their social media, volunteer events, or donating to help strengthen their cause."

Purpose

The purpose of this research report is to present findings from my study and discuss future changes for the Sisters of Mercy future UX strategy.

Begining Changes

1. Adding Personalization to the Website: Creating a section where you can create an account. They can list topics they are passionate on to create an algorithm for events and articles
2. Creating a meaningful experience for Donors: S Sending notifications of impact updates on the cause they donated to will keep the users engaged post donation.
3. Increasing Youth engagement: Creating a strong brand identity, and adding new processes on social media will attract younger users.Like creating video articles on social media.
